PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Janet Sigal, PhD.
USA

I hope that all of our ICP members and their families have a wonderful holiday season and a happy and healthy New Year.

We are all excited about the 2016 ICP Conference in Japan in July. Please visit our website to submit proposals and register for the conference.

We are now accepting membership renewals from our current members and encourage new members to join ICP. Our membership dues are very reasonable beginning this year and we hope to attract new members for ICP. Please also email me at Janet2822@aol.com if you want to become involved in ICP.

I am working with the subcommittees to review the application process for new members and to develop approaches which will appeal to students and early career psychologists. We are working with graduate students currently on the membership subcommittee and other interested students. I am also working with the technology subcommittee to determine how to implement the proposed mid-year meeting using virtual approaches.

I have also been working at the UN with members of psychology NGOs including ICP, in the development of the next Psychology Day at the UN which will take place on April 21, 2016. The theme of the major event will be Migration and include considerations of the issue of refugees from war-torn regions of the world. We already have two Missions co-sponsoring the program.

I also participated in the International Day of Older Persons (IDOP) celebration at event was "sustainability and age inclusiveness in the urban environment."

These are a few of my recent activities mostly including other members of the ICP UN team.

Thanks so much. Happy Holidays to all!

Janet

Leadership Approach: a Call for Nominations

"Leaders aren't born, they are made." – Vince Lombardi

The very essence of leadership is a possible potential in each one of us. However, the manifestation of that leadership depends on how we make use of that potential. We have the option of actively forming and shaping that potential or passively watching that potential fail and dissipate rather than grow, blossom, and flourish.

This is the basis of the training I developed for new and emerging mental health professionals in our community clinic in Los Angeles. (www.imces.org) The emphasis in our APA-accredited clinical training program for doctoral interns is leadership competency development in the context of diversity. The context of diversity is everywhere, as we live and breathe among diversity. I believe that leadership and diversity are connected. Responsible leadership development includes identifying similarities among differences, recognizing and acknowledging differences for their valuable contributing quality and, with that spirit, developing a bridge of unity among diversity.

Life brings so many opportunities to either stay in a passive, victim, powerless mode, or to use the very victimizing event as an opportunity to lead. Sometimes our strength manifests from the very helpless and powerless position. Take, for example, Malala Yousafzai – a young girl victimized by a radical group for her quest for the basic human right of education. Malala, who had advocated for the education of girls in an area where girls had been banned from attending schools, was shot with the intention of killing her. Malala survived and chose to turn around the very victimizing situation and lead a campaign for education and human rights for girls, even in dangerously oppositional conditions.

Every one of us has a similar, if not as tragic a story. The question is, what do we do with it? My hope is that we can be inspired by many similar situations around us and choose to take a leadership role, using our skills and commitment to influence our profession in an effective way.

In this spirit of taking an active role in support of our shared mission of our organization, ICP, I am calling on you to nominate individuals for leadership positions in ICP. These may be self-nominations, as well. Additionally, I invite you to consider serving as a member of ICP's Nominations and Elections Committee.

Looking forward to your demonstration of leadership spirit and active participation.

Please respond directly to me, via email at drtarapir@imces.org.

With Warm Regards,

Dr. Tara Pir, ICP Past President

PRESIDENT ELECT REPORT

Machiko Fukuhara, PhD.
JAPAN

Tokyo, Japan. December 2015

First of all, let me express my wishes for a Happy and Peaceful Season's Greetings to you.

It has been 4 months since I started my role of P-E. and Chair, Preparatory Committee, Yokohama Conference. I thank our S-G Nancy Quatrano and all of the International Advisory committee members for their help. At this opportunity, I would like to make things clearer so that you will be able to learn about how to join our Association and to attend the Conference:

A. ICP (ICP2016) and ICP, Inc. (our Association). The 74th ICP, Inc. Conference, Yokohama will be held July 22-25 in conjunction with ICP2016, (July 24-29) at the same venue. I find that two 'ICP' names might be confusing. So, firstly, I will explain about the two and their relationships as follows:

1. Outline of Associations. Both ICP, Inc. and ICP2016 are under the auspices of IUPsyS. The latter is the Congress (International Congress of Psychologists) which is held every 4 years. One Psychology Association representing each country holds a membership and supports the IUPsyS, but individual psychologists from all over the world can join this Congress when it is held. ICP, Inc. is also under the auspices of IUPsyS and supports it. It is free for individuals to become members and enjoy its annual Conference. ICP and ICP, Inc. have a good relationship historically in terms of exchange of scholarly communications, etc. And, ICP, Inc. usually holds its annual Conference close by in terms of venues and dates. Sometimes they have joint academic sessions.

For this reason, our ICP, Inc. is going to hold its conference in conjunction with ICP2016 in July, 2016. We have already set up a joint symposium there.

2. With this, we aim at having a win – win relationship. We will enjoy associations with many more colleagues from different countries during this opportunity.

For this particular event, we have made a contract with ICP2016 that will allow:

1) Those attending both ICP2016 and ICP, Inc. are allowed to pay ONE registration fee to cover both. [Registration rates will vary with registration period. Also, check exchange rates at time of payment for accurate conversion values.]

To register, open the ICP2016 home page The ICP2016 website address is: <http://www.icp2016.jp/>—you can click here—and complete your Registration. THEN, email your ICP, Inc. registration form to Ms. Nancy Quatrano, for participation in our conference. [Nancy@OnTargetWords.com.

2) You can enjoy the entire program and social events (July 24-29) planned by ICP (ICP2016). In addition, ICP, Inc. is renting 2 rooms (for July 23-24) independent from ICP2016.

3) Those attending only the ICP, Inc. Conference (July 22-25) can have the opportunity of participating in the cultural tours ICP2016 has planned by contacting Japan Tourist Bureau (JTB) at their venue desk and by paying the necessary fees.

4) Both ICP2016 and ICP, Inc. participants can book accommodations by contacting hotels contracted by JTB for reduced prices. They are listed at the ICP2016 home page. (You can open the ICP2016 Homepage and choose a hotel of your choice listed there.) <http://www.icp2016.jp/accommodation.html> Please do that as quickly as possible.

B. Getting back to our conference in Yokohama, I will explain how to prepare for it:

1. Please register for membership for our ICP, Inc. You will find the registration for membership form in the IP55.4 issue and at our website (ICPWEB.ORG)
2. Register for Participation to the Conference by filling in the Form located in Section III of this newsletter, or at our website at ICPWEB.ORG. Email or mail this form to Nancy Quatrano, our S-Gen as soon as possible. If attending ONLY ICP, Inc. conference, payment will be necessary at the ICP, Inc. website. Use the shopping cart there and complete the registration form.
3. If you want to participate as a presenter in any of the academic sessions on the program, please fill in this form, The Proposal Submission Form (with abstract), or the one sent to you by email in December. OR, you can also find that link in Section III of this newsletter, too.

Any inquiry will be received at fmachiko@dion.h2.ne.jp OR icpinc.tyo-office16@nifty.com. Please cc Nancy@OnTargetWords.com.

4. For Poster/In Absentia Poster, please fill the form from Ann Marie O'Roark (annoroark@bellsouth.net) and Anna Commu-nian (annalaura.comunian@unipd.it)

5. For other information about the Conference, please see IP55.3, and 4 and check in regularly at our official website: <http://ICPWEB.ORG>. OR send your questions to icpinc.tyo-office16@nifty.com

Please do not hesitate to write to me if you have any questions.

We look forward to being with you at the 74th ICP, Inc. Annual Conference, Yokohama, Japan. We are excited to welcome you to our country.

Best Regards,

Machiko Fukuhara, Ph.D

UNITED NATIONS REPORT

Dr. Roswith Roth
Vienna

I attended the Conference of NGOs in Consultative Relationship with the United Nations (CoNGO) a celebration of 70 Years of United Nations and Cooperation with NGOs: Shared Ideals, Shared Values, Shared Futures; The Role of NGOs in Securing a Sustainable Future on Monday 5 October 2015 at the Vienna International Centre (VIC). This event was celebrated in New York and Geneva earlier this year.

The program consisted of a welcome address of Wolfgang Beigelboeck, the CoNGO Vice-President, Vienna; an introduction by Cyril Ritchie, President of Congo with the title "Shared Ideals, Shared Values, Shared Futures"; and two keynotes by Martin Nesirsky, Director, United Nations Information Service (UNIS) Vienna, and Stefano Prato, Managing Director, Society for International Development (SID), Rome. After the keynotes, statements were given by chairs of the NGO Committees in Vienna.

Mr Beigelboeck stated that October 5, 2015 is the "World Habitat Day". In Resolution 40/202 of 17 December 1985, the UN General Assembly designated the first Monday of October of every year as World Habitat Day. In 2015, the United Nations chose the theme Public Spaces for All.

The World Habitat Day 2015 campaign aims to recognize the challenges and issues around Public Spaces. The streets and public spaces have often been overlooked and undervalued, but are increasingly being considered the backbone of cities. Public spaces are places which are accessible and enjoyable by all without a profit motive and take on various spatial forms, including parks, streets, sidewalks, markets and playgrounds. Good public spaces enhance community cohesion and promote health, happiness, and well-being for all citizens as well as fostering investment, economic development and environmental sustainability. Additionally he stated that the UN is working in dangerous situations, doing dangerous work at dangerous places and fosters the relationship between local and international NGOs. Above all, the UN is expected to be the governor of peace and human rights. The diversity of NGOs is both strength and weakness; at the same time they give a vital contribution for the citizens of the world.

Mr Ritchie talked about "Shared Ideals, Shared Values, Shared Futures" [which] lead to shared actions. Actions depend on the courage of NGO members. Many or most UN conventions come from NGO initiatives. NGOs have to be vigilant to spread good practices. But there are obstacles: (1) money: UN has serious problems to get money from members, (2) implementation - NGOs have to put pressure on governments to implement the UN decisions and resolutions and, (3) increasing restrictions of NGOs. Considering shared futures, NGOs have come an immensely long way as a voice of the people. For 2030 - we should plan implementations and actions for shared responsibility we not only want, but need!

Mr Nesirsky said CONGO is nurturing and fostering cooperation of UN-NGOs and civil society. Civil society is the oxygen of the society, peace and human rights. No country can do this alone. NGOs are supporting the UN and they also monitor the work, analyze it and evaluate failure and success. Peace to the People and the Millennium Goals aim that less than 10% of people will live in poverty soon. The extreme poverty rate has been halved, but major challenges remain. This is done jointly [by] evaluating the shortcomings, taking actions to prevent backslide, and securing the chance for the future.

Mr Prato talked about the theory of change which is unfolding around us 7 pillars - growing and expanding goods - water today, air tomorrow - forms of homogenizations: you find all the same products at the Amazonas or in New York - cooptation of science - decreasing role of the state - loss of serenity - shrinking of democratic space - numbers over voices - pressure of media - progressive capture of public space - use of law as instrument of power - nutrition. Several challenges are related to modernity: existential challenges, second causes of deaths are suicide, 800.000/yr., ethical aspects of science and technology, poverty, violence and culture of violence, kids are daily exposed, data revolution etc. "Non-state actors (NGOs)" are merging private and public interests, are a public - private relationship, with no conflict of interests.

The following NGO Committees reported and gave statements:

- Committee on Aging
- Committee on the Status of Women
- Committee of Peace
- Committee on Sustainable Development

The conference gave a good overview of the challenges and successes of NGOs in the UN.

Best wishes to all,
Roswith Roth, PhD.

News from Australia and International Organisations:

50th Australian Psychological Society Annual Conference, Golden Jubilee 29th September to the 2nd October 2015. Panel Member for the 'Forum on the APS and its Relations with International Psychology Associations'.

Presentation Title: 'Musings of a Clinical Psychologist from the APS to World International Psychology'.

While the benefits of the APS's hosting of the 2010 Congress of the International Association of Applied Psychology (IAAP) are many and varied, one of critical importance is the deepening of the connection not only between Australian psychology and international psychology but also between Australian and international psychologists.

Aim: Thus the aim of the present forum is to review the nature of the relations between the APS, or its members, and major international psychological associations. This includes the IAAP, the International Union of Psychological Science (IUPsyS), the International Council of Psychologists (ICP) and the International Project on Competence in Psychology (IPCP).

Conclusion: Possible outcomes include raising awareness of the existence and relevance these associations as well as aiding the development of personal or institutional strategies in connection with them.

Panellists included Professor Mike Knowles, Professor Paul Martin, Professor Lyn Littlefield, Professor Simon Crowe, Dr Sandra Neil and Professor Iain Montgomery.

Liaison Correspondent Report:

Australian Psychological Society News

The Australian Psychological Society (APS) welcomes today's announcement by the Government of much-needed reform to the mental health system through a regionalised approach to deliver better tailored care to people with mental health problems.

The Government today outlined its response to the National Mental Health Commission report, Contributing Lives, Thriving Communities – Review of Mental Health Programmes and Services.

Responding to the announcement, Executive Director of the APS Professor Lyn Littlefield said, "We welcome mental health reform that will lead to better care for people with mental health issues."

"The proposed changes, including increased access to online mental health interventions and tailored packages of care for people with severe, chronic and complex conditions through Primary Health Networks (PHNs) across Australia, will lead to a more integrated and coordinated approach to their mental health care."

The Government's response to the National Review of Mental Health Programs and Services, which was conducted by the National Mental Health Commission in 2014, was released yesterday. The response seeks to deliver system change over the next three years with the 31 Primary Health Networks (PHNs) playing a central role in the reformed architecture for mental health service delivery.

The Better Access program that provides access to psychological services through Medicare is continuing. Psychologists who do not hold an endorsement are still able to provide services through this initiative.

Müller, Thomas, Ulrike Lichtinger & Ralf Girg (2015) The MultiGradeMultiLevel-Methodology and its Global Significance: Ladders of Learning - Scientific Horizons - Teacher Education (Theory and Practice of School Pedagogics) Book 34, Publisher: Prolog-Verlag Immenhausen

What if children loved going to school? What if they enjoyed learning according to their lives and interests? What if their learning processes were supported in a way that they corresponded to their abilities and needs? What if they learned in their own rhythm and pace? What if teachers were able to support such learning through an individualized arrangement of learning materials and showed an attitude of appreciation? What if schools were maintained mostly by the students themselves and were surrounded by flowering gardens full of herbs and vegetables and fruit? If schools taught students how to live their lives in a sustainable way? Is that utopian? A non-existent paradise of learning? Does that sound like an exclusively perfect world that can only be found in upper class schools and would never be affordable for anybody else?

Thomas Müller, Ulrike Lichtinger and Ralf Girg of the universities of Regensburg and Würzburg describe such a learning and teaching culture, that has been practiced for thirty years in rural South India at Rishi Valley, in the state of Andhra Pradesh. The authors convey vividly an exemplary modern, inclusive, community-based and environmentally sustainable school culture, we, in many places in the so-called western world, are far away from. Each child there, so the book plausible emphasizes, is respected in its uniqueness. And it is encouraged and educated to cooperate responsibly with a sense for the whole community. At the same time the children show high learning performances.

March 17 - 20, 2016

San Francisco State University
San Francisco, California

Humanistic (R)evolution 2.0: Re-Visioning Human Potential, Education & Healthcare

A Conference Summit – A Unique Gathering for Unique Times

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

The Society for Humanistic Psychology will hold its ninth annual conference this March 17-20, 2016 at San Francisco State University, San Francisco, California. The information you need to register and arrange for lodging can be located at:

<http://www.societyforhumanisticpsychologyconference.com>

Our ninth annual humanistic conference promises to be an enriching and enjoyable experience. You will have a rare opportunity to meet and engage with many of the most creative and accomplished humanistic psychologists and therapists of our times and to network with an extensive humanistic community. In order to have strong student representation at the conference we will be offering low rates for students.

I will look forward to seeing you at the conference.

Cordially,

It could be argued that an understanding of the principles of existential therapy is needed by all therapists, as it adds a perspective that might form the basis of all effective treatments.

– Bruce Wampold

How shall we live? How are we living in this moment? What really matters to us? How can we pursue what really matters? Existential-Humanistic therapy is an experiential therapy, which assumes that if life-limiting blocks are minimized more joy, satisfaction, meaning, and purpose will emerge. Through experiential reflection and enactment, existential-humanistic therapy aims to help clients "see" close up both how they block themselves from fuller living and what, if any actions they are willing to take to break through those blocks. A re-claiming of one's life is the ultimate goal, but this cannot be achieved until one knows what has been disowned. The aim of E-H therapy is not symptom removal, although symptom removal often occurs. Rather, the aim of E-H therapy is "whole-bodied" and transformative: it goes to the core of one's being, thus making it a very powerful and effective therapeutic approach.

E-H Certificate and Experiential
Training Program

The Existential-Humanistic Institute's (EHI) primary focus is training, offering courses in existential-humanistic therapy and theory. EHI was formed as a program of the Pacific Institute in 1997.

EHI provides a forum, a "home," for those mental health professionals, scholars, and students who seek in-depth training in existential-humanistic philosophy, practice, and inquiry.

The goal of the institute is to support existentially and humanistically informed psychologies and psychotherapies throughout the world. By "existentially informed" we mean perspectives that stress freedom, experiential reflection, and responsibility. By "humanistically informed" we mean purviews that address two overarching questions - What does it mean to be fully, experientially human, and how does that understanding illuminate the vital or fulfilled life?

MIGRATION MATTERS

Global Forum on Migration and Development: civil society calls on governments to make better choices

The Global Forum on Migration and Development (GFMD), held on 14-16 October in Istanbul, brought together 500 government delegates from more than 140 countries, almost 300 leaders of civil society leaders worldwide and representatives of UN and other international agencies to discuss migration and development and forge practical cooperation.

For the seventh consecutive year, ICMC coordinated the two Civil Society Days which took place just before the GFMD.

ICMC's President Peter Sutherland visits the ICMC-run Resettlement Support Center in Istanbul

On 13 October, ICMC's President Peter Sutherland visited ICMC's Resettlement Support Center for Turkey and Middle East (RSC TuME). Since the 1960's, the RSC accompanies the refugees referred by UNHCR in all the steps preceding resettlement, from pre-screening interviews to cultural orientation classes.

"Seeing the work you do – fair, well-organized, with no strings attached – really gives me heart", he commented.

Refugee resettlement and integration in Europe: the SHARE Network discusses experiences and lessons learnt in Brussels

On 20 October, over 140 representatives from 20 EU countries including regional and local authorities, cities and municipalities, civil society organizations, and international organizations gathered in Brussels to attend the conference "Protecting and Welcoming Refugees in Europe: responding to an unprecedented refugee crisis".

The conference was an occasion to discuss experiences and lessons learnt during the three years since the SHARE Network was created.

United Nations Department of Public Information Associates New Non-Governmental Organization Partners, Strengthening Civil Society Ties Worldwide

Press Release

The Department of Public Information/Non-Governmental Organizations (NGO) Committee associated 15 NGOs with the United Nations Department of Public Information and disassociated one organization on Friday, 20 November. This brings to 1,451 the number of NGOs partnering with the Department in the area of communications and outreach.

The Director of the Outreach Division at United Nations Department of Public Information, Maher Nasser, welcomed the new group, which includes NGOs from Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America and North America, saying: "We are thrilled at the continued interest of NGOs around the world to partner with the UN in advocating for sustainable development, human rights and peace." The newly associated organizations come from Argentina, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Denmark, El Salvador, Niger, Nigeria, Republic of Korea, Switzerland, Turkey and the United States, and work on a range of issues, including health, education, promotion of United Nations Millennium Development Goals and Sustainable Development Goals, intercultural education, community and economic development and youth empowerment.

In describing the Department's partnership with NGOs, Mr. Nasser stated: "NGOs will play a crucial role in raising awareness about the newly adopted Sustainable Development Goals and in working on the ground with communities, local authorities and other partners to achieve them. Through our partnership with NGOs, we hope to enable them to more effectively do their important work and also bring NGO voice to the UN."

ONG ASER (Association Santé Éducation Démocratie) (Niger); Center for International Virtual Schooling (United States); Centre for Public Health (Nigeria); Centre International d'Investissement (Switzerland); Fundación Luz María (Argentina); Fundación Para la Democracia, Seguridad y Paz (El Salvador); International Women's Peace Group (IWPG) (Republic of Korea); Inwelle Study and Resource Centre (Nigeria); Journalists and Writers Foundation (Turkey); Khmers Kampuchea-Krom Federation (United States); New Future Foundation (United States); Peace Jam (United States); Save the Climate (Democratic Republic of Congo); Specialist People Foundation (Denmark); and World Childhood Foundation (United States).

SECTION III: ADMINISTRATIVE GOVERNANCE REFERENCES

EDITOR'S REPORT

GREAT EXPECTATIONS: 2016 &amp; FRESH CHALLENGES

Ann Marie O'Roark, PhD, ABAP

Editor, ICP Publication

December 2015. St. Augustine, Florida.

ICP, Inc. BIRTHDAY DATE is December 15, 1941. Now that the former Women's Council of Psychologists unfolds its flag for finishing 75 years of dedication to disseminating scientific psychology with a firm grounding in professional standards of practice and ethics and an aspirational goal of contributing to well being on a global level, the Board is getting geared up for a grand jubilee celebration at the 74th annual conference and board meetings in Yokohama, Japan, July 22- 25, 2016. President Elect Machiko Fukuhara activated an ICP, Inc. office as conference base of operations near her residence in Tokyo. Working with her Local Arrangements Committee, Drs. Edit Nagy-Tanaka and Yoshiko Katu, and two part time staff assistants, efforts to arrange logistics, substantive conference programming and inter-association collaborations are taking impressive shape. Should the sponsors and grants for this jubilee event complete their agreements with Dr. Fukuhara, the Yokohama ICP, Inc. meeting will be a remarkable peak experience in the life of our shared values band of colleagues. The theme for ICP 2016 is "Psychology for World Equality, Access and Well Being." The IUPsyS Congress [ICP2016] theme is: "Diversity in Harmony."

Professional value's emphasized by conference themes and leadership projects changes to give attention to one or more pressing issues of the times [zeitgeist]. Beginning with the hope for peace among nations and concern for the people who went into battle and their families, the early papers and workshops reported about children's needs and supported summer trips for children to meet children in another land. Other wellbeing needs that have been highlighted include: women, nationally persecuted psychologists, human rights, disadvantaged of the place/group] value being emphasized by President Sigal is INCLUSION: active membership and engagement of new colleagues from every specialization in health care. She challenges each of us to enroll at least one new person in the association life. With the reduction in membership dues proposed by Past President Pir and put into effect by the 2014/15 Board for 2016, dues should not be a barrier for giving the new member recruited a gift of first year's dues. Please notify Temporary Secretary General Nancy Quatrano of the name, contact information and dues payment method [check, website, charge card, etc.]

It is my pleasure to share with you the logo / poster created for ICP, Inc.'s 75th JUBILEE commemoration (see next page). Dr. Harold Takooshian and his committee workers, Anne Takooshian and Lori Dondiego, have managed to present seventy five language variations of PSYCHOLOGY onto one page. He made a presentation of 50 language versions for the 50th birthday, as well as organizing a publication on the history and purposes of the association.

THANK YOU EACH AND ALL.

Each ICP, Inc. colleague's contribution of talent, time and knowledge is what makes the International Council of Psychologists, Inc. vibrant and creative in ways that less face-to-face associations are unable to enjoy. Happy Jubilee Year and Great Expectations for Successes More Than Expected in the days ahead.

Warm Regards,

ACT. SECRETARY-GENERAL

Ms. Nancy L. Quatrano, USA

December 2015

Hastings, Florida USA

I hope that this IP finds you all in good health and enjoying your holiday season with many blessings. From me and my family to yours, may 2016 be all that you dream it can be.

It has been a busy few months in many respects. I'm currently managing the membership intake, dues calls, and correspondence (and yes, I'm behind); the banking and records and treasury reports; assisting with the 2016 convention groundwork as I can; coordinating website updates and information; and assisting board members and chairs with a variety of communication tasks.

I'm getting together the 2015 income and expense reports to hand over to the CPA for his assistance in our tax filing and hope to have that completed by the second week in January; our corporate filing is complete, and all affiliate and liaison dues are currently paid and up to date (to the best of my knowledge.)

Membership needs to remain a focus of energy and commitment for all in 2016. And, frankly, at $50 it is the best deal of the century – this one or the last one! Student memberships remained at $10 per year, so encouraging young professionals and students to team up with ICP, Inc. is something you can do in good conscience and know that it will serve them and the world in good stead.

2016 looks to be a year full of wonderful things, not the least of which is that it is the 75th anniversary of what is known as the International Council of Psychologists! The 74th Annual Board Meeting and Convention will be held in Yokohama, Japan, under the guidance and auspices of Dr. Machiko Fukuhara, President-Elect, Scientific Program Chair, and local arrangements chairperson. Make plans to be there! The registration tab is live on the website at <http://www.ICPWEB.org>.

Until next newsletter, may your health be good, your energy be high, and your joys be many.

Nancy Quatrano
Acting Secretary-General 2015-16

GUIDELINES FOR HOSTING AN INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL OF PSYCHOLOGY ANNUAL CONFERENCE AND BOARD MEETING

The International Council of Psychology, Inc holds an annual scientific program and Board meeting each year in accord with the policy of freedom of movement of scientists. The conference host (local arrangements committee) must be a member of ICP, Inc. To establish the feasibility of submitting an application, a potential applicant might begin with an overview of some logistical issues for proposing a Congress venue:

- ♦ Is there a conference venue to host at least 100 participants? (50)? (30)?
- ♦ Are there sufficient hotel rooms close to the conference venue
- ♦ Is there a scientific community to develop or sponsor the program?

Proximity in time and site to other major professional congresses. ICP operates in alliance with the International Association of Applied Psychology [IAAP, quadrennial congresses], the International Union of Psychological Science [IUPsyS, quadrennial congresses that meet in between the IAAP cycles]; the American Psychological Association or the Canadian Psychological Association; with options for meeting near allied professional association on intervening years.

Proximity in time and site to other major professional congresses. ICP operates in alliance with the International Association of Applied Psychology [IAAP, quadrennial congresses], the International Union of Psychological Science [IUPsyS, quadrennial congresses that meet in between the IAAP cycles]; the American Psychological Association or the Canadian Psychological Association; with options for meeting near allied professional association on intervening years.

Geographical Rotation among continents and countries attempts to guarantee broad geographical coverage, proximity to other major professional conferences, or in regions where psychologists may not have presented a scientific program previously.

The scientific community in the conference country is especially invited to participate in the scientific program.

Communication: There is a requirement for intensive and frequent communication between the Board President, Scientific Program Chair, Local Arrangements

Chair, Workshops Chair, InAbsentia Student Posters Chair, and Awards Chairs.

Costs for participating in the Congress are another factor. The Board will expect that the registration fee will be reasonable, that there is a range of good hotel rates (particularly including inexpensive ones), and that travel costs can be kept as low as possible. Despite efforts to keep costs low, travel is expensive for young psychologists, and for psychologists from the developing world and transition countries. It is therefore important to provide a plan that will guarantee special fees, housing, and support for those colleagues.

A balanced budget needs to be provided in outline. It is important to show realistically how the income (registration fees and other) will cover your costs. It may be helpful to consult the preceding organisers of Conferences in drafting the budget. The budget is reviewed by the President and the Treasurer, who can offer advice.

Send questions or proposals to President Janet Sigal, at: janet2822@aol.com.
